2 Preparing for the test

Learn how the Writing Test works

The EnglishScore Writing Test tests your English language accuracy (including spelling), range and organisation, as well as overall writing ability (including comprehensibility).

The test is divided into four parts: Listen and Write, Answer the Question, Describe the Image and Have a Chat. Questions are on topics that can be from daily life, e.g. going to the supermarket, or from the workplace, e.g. opinions about work or work-related chat messages. After completing your test, you will be graded by our AI system before you receive your writing score.

Test-takers are notified via email and through app notifications when their test results are available. Test results are usually available within one hour of taking the test.

2 | Preparation and practice

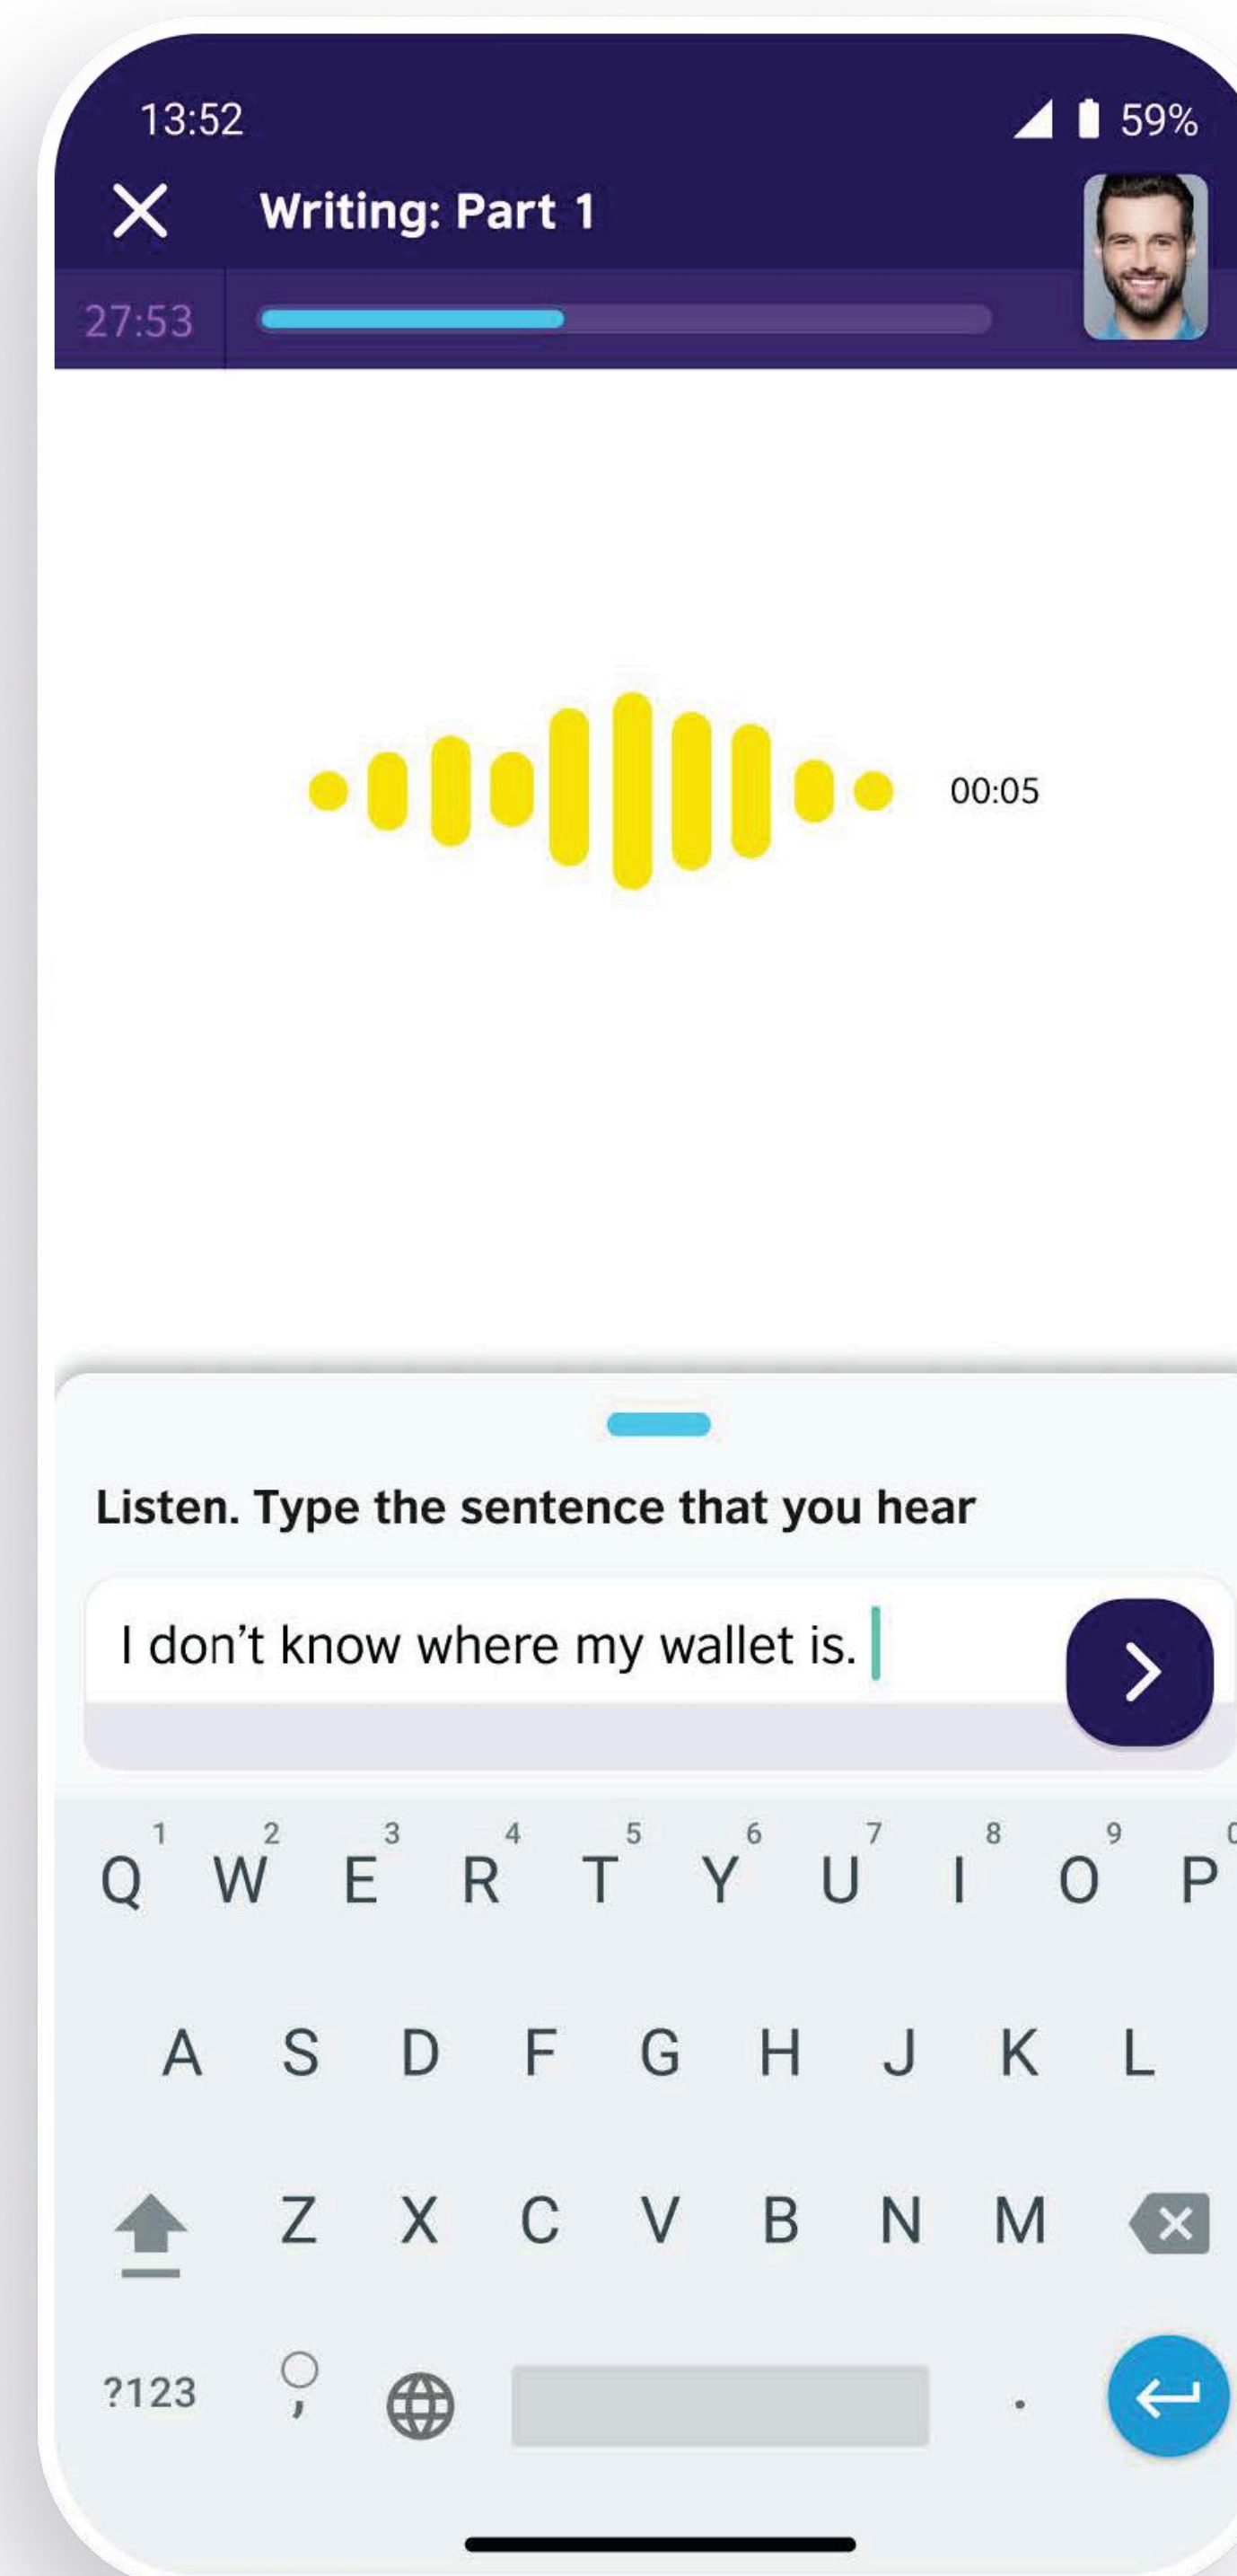

Part 1: Listen and Write

In this part, you will listen to a sentence (5–15 words).

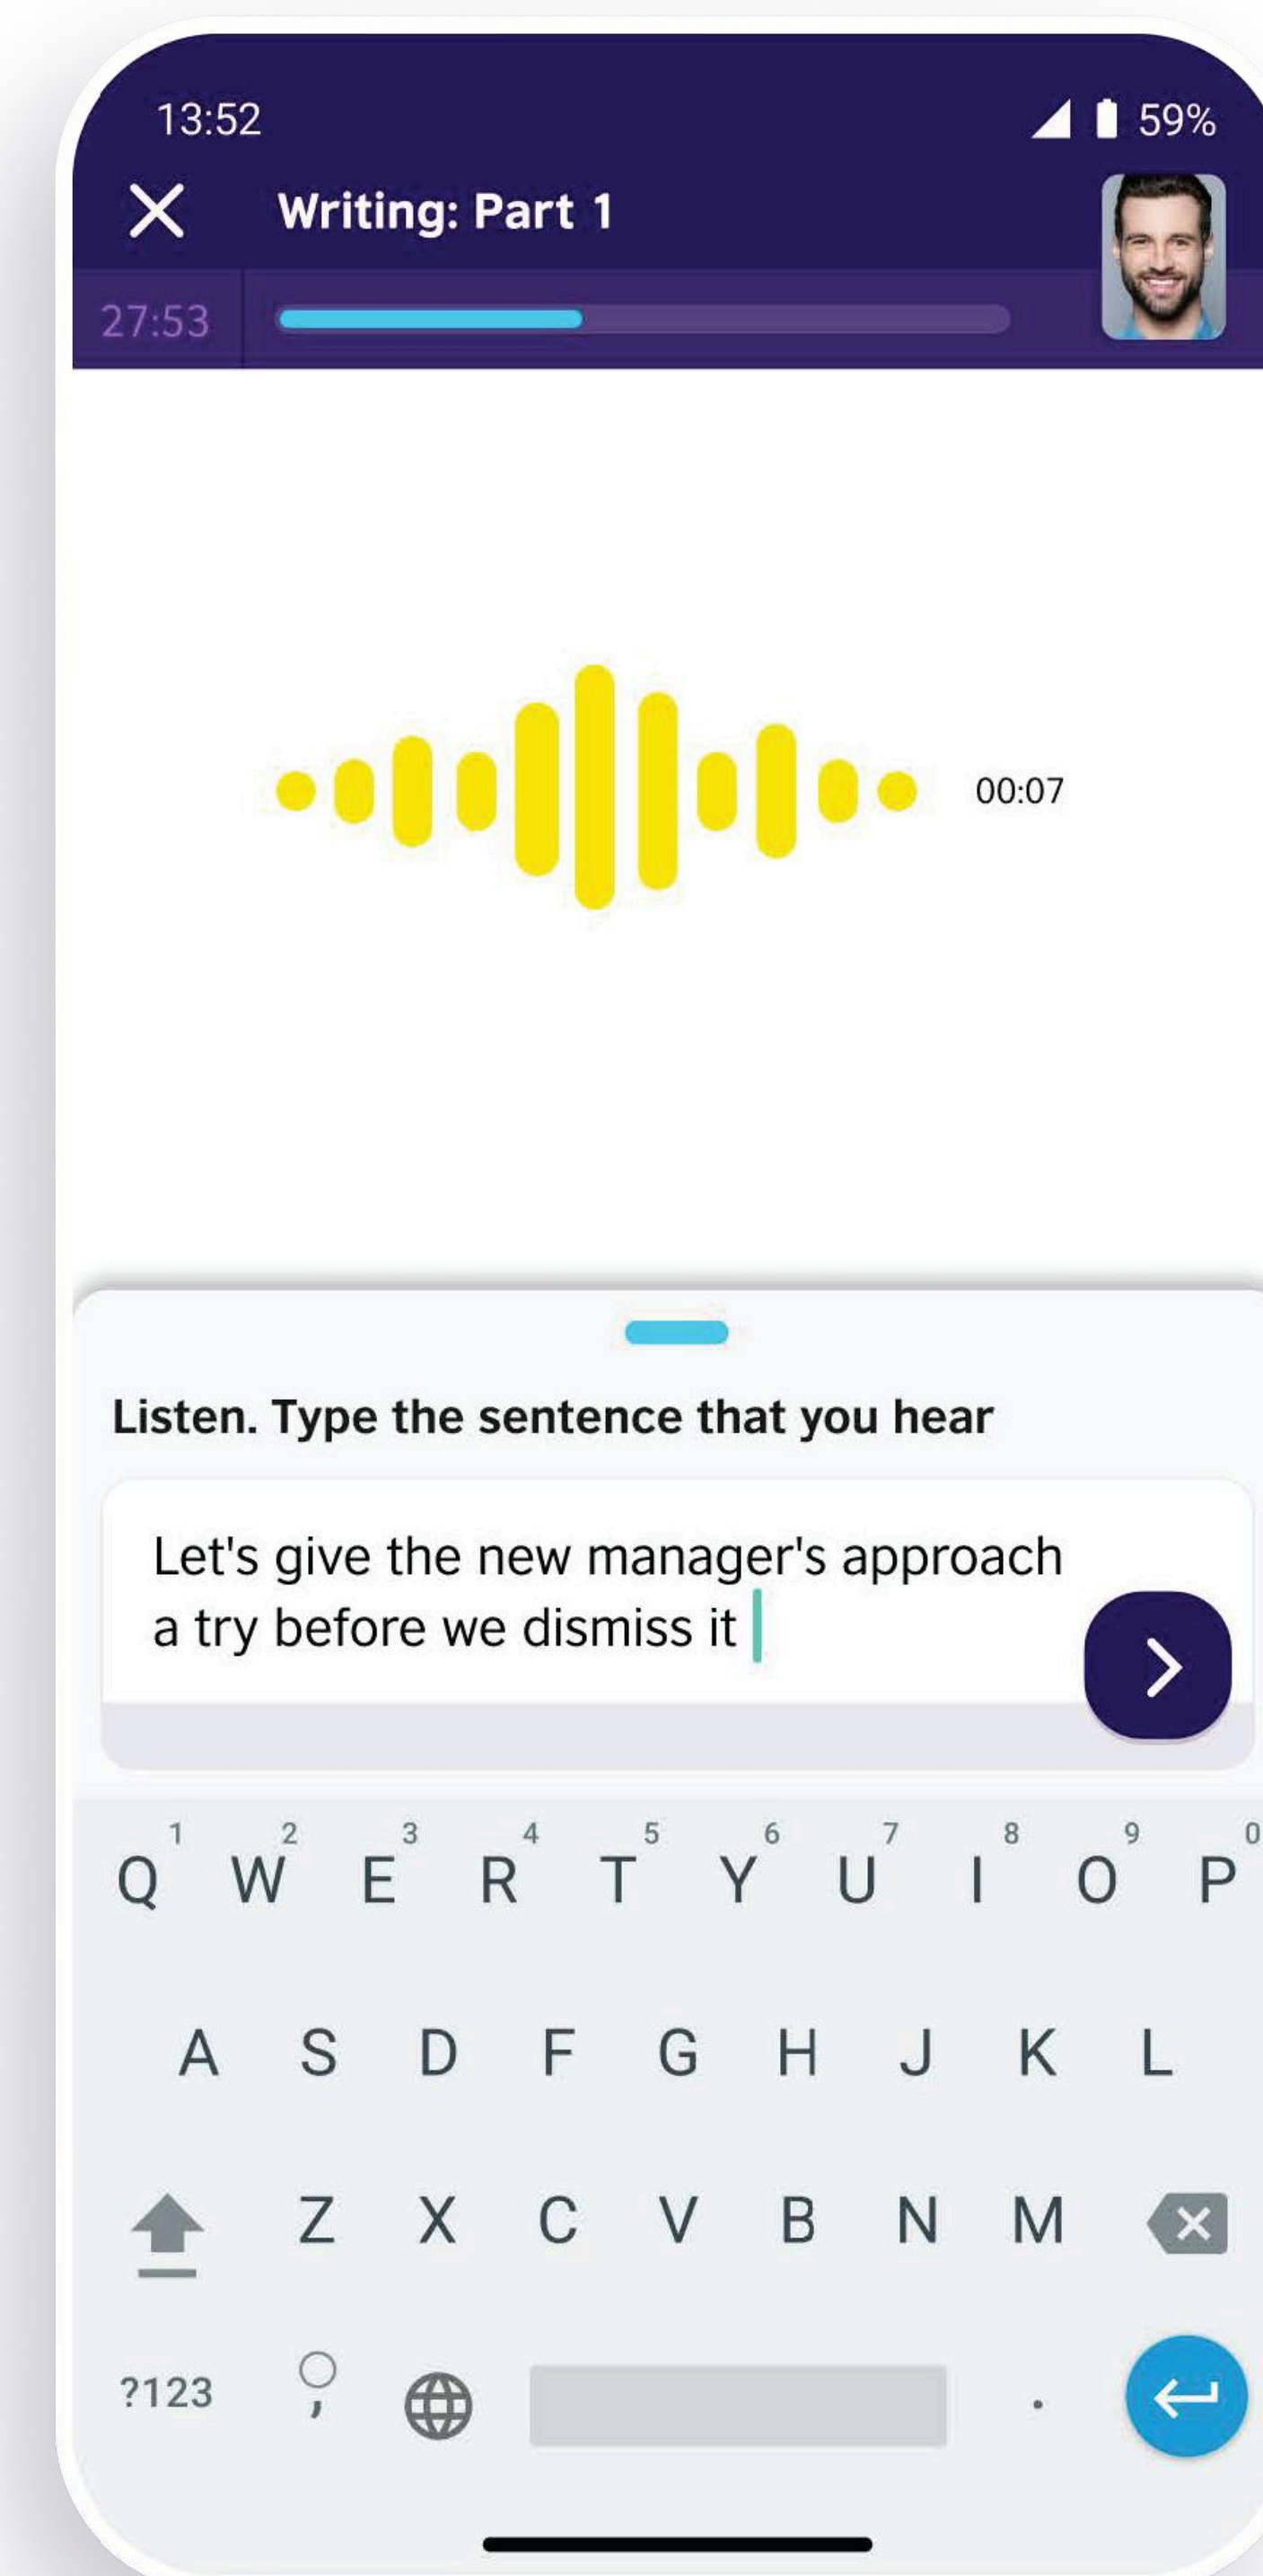

You must type the sentence into the box shown on the screen. You can only start typing after you have listened to the sentence, but you can listen to the sentence twice.

You have 90 seconds to complete this task.

A2 | Example

B2 | Example

2 | Preparation and practice

Part 2: Answer the Question

In this part, you will read a statement about a topic, which also includes a question.

You must answer the question shown on the screen. Your answer should be between 20 and 40 words at A2 and B1 levels and 50 and 70 words at B2 and C1 levels.

Note that while shorter answers may lead to lower scores, you won't be penalised if you go over the word count. However, it's still important to stay as close to the recommended range as possible. A current word count will be displayed on the screen as you type.

You have 7 minutes to complete this part.

B1 | Example

The screenshot shows a mobile app interface for the B1 level. At the top, the status bar shows 13:52 and 59% battery. The app header is dark purple with a close button (X), the title 'Writing: Part 2', and a profile picture. Below the header, a light grey box contains the statement 'I like cold weather more than hot weather.' and the question 'What do you prefer and why?'. Below this, a light blue box titled 'Answer the question' indicates 'You should write 30-50 words'. A text input field is shown with a blue arrow button to the right. At the bottom, a keyboard is visible with a word count of 0 and a blue arrow button.

C1 | Example

The screenshot shows a mobile app interface for the C1 level. At the top, the status bar shows 13:52 and 59% battery. The app header is dark purple with a close button (X), the title 'Writing: Part 2', and a profile picture. Below the header, a light grey box contains the statement 'Managers don't need to know details about their employees' personal lives.' and the question 'Do you agree or disagree and why?'. Below this, a light blue box titled 'Answer the question' indicates 'You should write 30-50 words'. A text input field is shown with a blue arrow button to the right. At the bottom, a keyboard is visible with a word count of 0 and a blue arrow button.

Note that while shorter answers may lead to lower scores, you won't be penalised if you go over the word count. However, it's still important to stay as close to the recommended range as possible.

A current word count will be displayed on the screen as you type.
